

Tamworth to Toowoomba and onward to Brisbane

Reviving our railway for the future

People of New England want better transport north of Armidale: better public transport and more efficient, low-carbon, movement of goods and bulk freight.

We need the Main North railway line to be fully running again, connecting Tamworth through to Toowoomba as standard gauge all the way, making New England part of the growing interstate rail network.

This is essential for the social and economic future of Guyra, Glen Innes, Deepwater and Tenterfield — for all of the Northern Tablelands. And it will greatly benefit Tamworth and Armidale when their working railway is fully connected again — north and south.

TRAINS NORTH
INCORPORATED

Trains North Incorporated campaigns to protect the railway line north of Armidale via Glen Innes and Tenterfield; and argues for trains to run again to Queensland on the Great Northern Railway, connecting Sydney with Brisbane via New England. And we support those entities, both non-profit and commercial, seeking to operate trains locally.

The Main North Line can also provide an immediate interim route for the unfinished Inland Rail project to progress towards Brisbane, following existing lines from Narromine via Dubbo, Werris Creek and Tamworth. Mobilising The Main North line would provide time to solve other difficulties and would establish an enduring connection between New England and the growth area of South-East Queensland, at much less cost than other major infrastructure projects.

Help save the line for better connectivity and future development of the region. Please do the following:
